

2010 National Financial Literacy Poster Competition

National Foundation for Credit Counseling

Sponsored Locally by:

Office of the Vermont State Treasurer, Consumer Credit Counseling Service of NH and VT, Vermont Bankers Association

April 8, poster contest winners were recognized at a State House ceremony. Below are photos from that event.

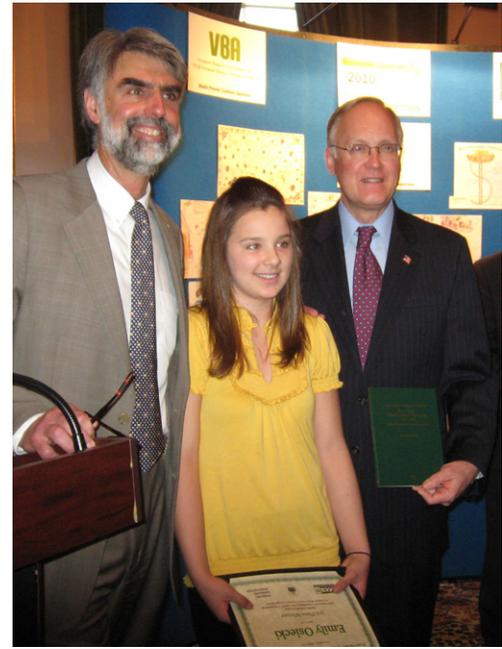

(at left) Charlotte Brace, the elementary school division winner, is interviewed by WCAX reporter Kristin Carlson and photojournalist Lance MacKenzie. Charlotte is from Union Elementary School in Montpelier.

State Treasurer Jeb Spaulding and Governor Jim Douglas congratulate middle school division winner Dejah Lee on her award as her Sharon Academy teacher Marcy Innes and Vermont Bankers Association President Chris D'Elia look on.

High school division winner Haeji Joh and second place finisher Lei Mao, both of St. Johnsbury Academy, pose with their certificates.

Emily Osiecki of the St. Albans Town Educational Center is presented with her award for placing third in the middle school division.

Buddy Colgrove, a home-schooled student from Middlesex receives recognition for placing second in the middle school division.

Newton School students Harvey Kelley and Nicolette Brown tied for third place in the elementary school division. Above, the students, along with their teacher Ingrid Webb and Principal Jonathan Freeman, are recognized.

Governor Douglas talks with some of the students who attended the ceremony.

Students, teachers, and parents watch as awards are presented.

Thank you to our photographers Mandy Speaker and Karen Willey.